So sorry to hear about your Dad. Please accept my sincere sympathy. He wrote me the nicest note with a picture of you in it when you graduated from vet school. I really appreciated it, and I have always regretted missing it. I hope you are doing well. You will always be loved! We are all thinking of you. Take care.

“ Dear Amy and family,
We were shocked and broken -hearted to hear Kim had passed away. We became instant friends with Kim the first day he came to work at WCOV. It is so sad to think that he won't be here in this life anymore. Though we saw each other infrequently in recent years, one memory stands out. After the funeral of our friend, WCOV Chief Engineer Phil Witt, Kim and Rick Pennington came over to our house. We spent the afternoon around the kitchen table reminiscing about old times and friends from the broadcasting world, with a lot of laughs and some tears. Friends are forever. We will never forget you, Kim, and the professionalism and joy you brought to your broadcasts and our lives. May your family find peace as they remember such a great man. -- Mickey and Rinda Wynn

“ My condolences to Amy, Mr.Kim's children, grandchildren, and all of those mourning his passing. Mr. Kim's selfless posture will be deeply missed! Mentoring my quadriplegic son since 2019 even on his sick bed speaks volumes. We vow to honor his name by selflessly pouring into others as he did with compassion, truth, fairness, and peace. I'm going to miss his tough love for it has made me push, and never forget to remember! Forever in our hearts Cynthia & KC 🥹🙏

“A man has died, as happens many times every day. But today this death is personal. In a culture that has minimized the word friend, I am trying to find the means to express the depth of loss I feel for this one particular friend. His unflagging loyalty, thoughtful advice and razor sharp wit are but a few of his gifts and I am honored he chose to so often share them with me.

Having no siblings I have been fortunate to have found a few, very few, “brothers” to fill that void. These people are my family by choice, theirs and mine. So when one of these people exit my life, I am diminished. Forever gone are the private jokes and the binding stories that were so often repeated when we were together.

I have known Kim Wanous almost 50 years. We meet at WCOV TV in Montgomery, AL as two young men launching a career in broadcasting. We were pals immediately.

Trusted companions don't just happen, trust is earned. In our case, we knew so much about the other that trust was kind of required. We never started anything mischievous without the phrase, “Just us, right?”, which meant the origins of the prank/event/story/deed were to never be revealed. They never were.

*He was my partner in youthful misadventures beyond count. The ultimate wing man. Best Man at my wedding.
Good night brother, I love you.*

“ They say you can't go home again. But you can. Yesterday, my friend and mentor Kim Wanous returned home to a place where he was no longer suffering. Kim passed away on his terms, where he wanted to be - in his beautiful bucolic home with his family surrounding him. He summoned just enough strength to come home from the hospital to be home.

I first met Kim when I moved to Montgomery, Alabama not knowing a soul 38 years ago. He was the news director and main anchor at WCOV-TV. I called him cold out of the blue basically asking if a sophomore in high school could come over to Channel 20 and hang out, and maybe do some work. Kim was a news god in the market, but you'd never know. He was like "come on down" and quickly put me to work editing some news opens "overnight" for WCOV. He was a total trip. His license plate said "FUN", and fun he was. He drove a VW Beetle and a Cadillac which he said was a City Block on Wheels. I thought this was quite extreme. Kim thought it was funny. He invited me to hang out with his family. I just remember alot of love and laughs... and faith!

I kept in touch with Kim over the years but the last time I saw him was in 1986. Back in May, when I learned Kim had been in declining health, I decided to go home and see him in Pratt Vegas as Prattville, AL is called. Kim and his incredible wife, Amy, and his bro & sis welcomed me to their abode. It clearly was an ordeal for Kim to make the time for me and be physically ready. He was kind've warding me off. But lucky for me, those efforts failed. I hadn't seen Kim in 36 years but we picked up right where we left off. God, it was such a peaceful and fun afternoon. Saying hello to and catching up with someone you haven't seen in 36 years, while knowing you were saying goodbye is a surreal experience. Kim kept the afternoon light as we talked old TV gossip, and I had just visited his former station so enjoyed showing him pics of the old place! Kim was just so proud of his youngins' and raskools - and he lumped me into that group too.

I honestly thought Kim was going to be departing this terrestrial plain much sooner, but damn - he was a fighter! Even a man of faith like this was not ready to leave and no one was ready for him to leave, either! He hung on to spread his unique "Kim-ness" through nearly the end of a sultry Alabama summer... something poetic about that.

I only knew Kim on an everyday basis for a couple of years, but some people just make an impact and stick to your ribs like when you swallow gum! Kim was Double Mint. He was golden.

I share a link of this prank he pulled on one of his news anchors. It's a slow burn but watch and see the genius! <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=RGt5xgRjL5g>

And here's a clip of Kim anchoring the news back in the day. By the way, this was the most low budget station of all time with no teleprompter. No wonder Kim had a great memory! <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=xkjaxmkuwmKU>

And finally, Kim's obit reported by WSFA-TV in Montgomery (the competish and his last broadcast job). <https://www.wsfa.com/.../long-time-alabama-television.../>

Kim, you might have signed off from this earth, but you'll be on 24/7/365 with a nonstop live broadcast from here to eternity.

Kim interviewed and hired me at WAKA. He assigned me to be an Auburn fan because I had no idea which "team" I needed to "choose" a team (I had just moved to Alabama and didn't know what that meant). He was always kind and honest in his dealing. He was a good man.

*I was saddened to read about Kim's death. He was a good friend of my husband's, Larry Jacobs, who died in 1997. He wrote a very nice article about my husband. It made me feel so special to have a separate story about Larry printed in the paper. I think he and Larry were working together at the Dept of Rehab when he passed. Kim made a great addition to our community and was always thinking about others. God bless him and his family. May he Rest In Peace. Bettye Jacobs
I was the librarian at St Bede School 11 years following Larry's death. I never knew that Kim was Catholic. I loved my years there and as a Baptist, I learned a lot about my Catholic friends. All good people.*
