“My husband was friends with Rob for 30 years, and I was fortunate to become friends with him, too. Chris and I started calling him “Uncle Rob” because I taught his niece and nephew when they were in high school. Rob was one of the wittiest, kindest, coolest souls I’ve ever met. Vaya con Dios, my friend.

“Everything you did was for a reason that only you and God knew. I will miss seeing that smile and hearing you say, “Hey there! Does Mario know that you are here? I can go and get him for you.” It really hurt me when I found out you were no longer here with us. And it’s crazy because I asked Mario about you everyday for a whole week before receiving the news. We miss and love you Robbie. And please watch over us.

“ I knew Robbie for years, having grown up at the airport. I worked with him as a line man and as a pilot. He was always the same. A smile and a warm friendly greeting. I will miss him.

“ You will be missed more than you know Robbie! Your quick mind, and even quicker sarcastic wit, kept us on our toes. Your inquisitive mind that always shared so much information with me and others. Praying for the family that you loved and were so proud of, as evidenced in our many conversations over the years. Now, rest in peace and enjoy having all the answers now to many questions asked! I bet the stars are much brighter where you are now!

We will miss you!
